Limitations and Exclusions

We retain the right to modify prices, terms, specifications, and warranties without prior notice.

We retain the right to modify prices, terms, specifications, and warranties without prior notice. While we strive for accurate product descriptions, any typographical, photographic, or specification errors in the product details, pricing, or offers may be corrected and verified.

Online sales are intended for personal use and domestic sales only. If purchasing for export, you are responsible for the necessary export documentation before shipment to a foreign country. Contact us for information on shipments to foreign locations, as warranties for exported products may vary or be null and void.

We also reserve the right to limit the quantity of products sold, including the discretion to restrict sales to re-sellers. Prices do not include shipping, tax, and insurance. Rebates may require proof of purchase and postage.
